Dedication

Mrs. Winona Leonard

"Life's a pretty precious and wonderful thing. You can't sit down and let it lap around you . . . you have to plunge into it; you have to drive through it! And you can't save it, you can't store it up; you can't hoard it in a vault. You've got to taste it; you've got to use it. The more you use, the more you have . . . that's the miracle of it!"

Foreword

Music is a universal language. People of all nations can find pleasure in a melody without understanding the language in which the lyrics are written. As the style and rhythm of music change, people acquire an appreciation for new sounds. However, it seems that every generation adopts a style of music by which it is identified. Our generation expresses its feelings through many forms of music—folk, soul, and rock among them. The lyrics of contemporary songs reflect the thoughts and emotions of young people. In this era, songs of protest, as against war, poverty, discrimination, and discontent, are as significant as songs of love and optimism.

The Polarion is a picture diary of the Class of '69. The yearbook staff has undertaken to trace the lives of the members of the Senior Class through various stages (beginning when we were '51 Soul Babies and advancing until we became '69 Soul Babies). However, the Polarion is mainly a composite of the significant events of our Senior year. Popular song titles and lyrics have been used as captions throughout the Polarion. It is our hope that the 1969 Polarion has captured the "soul" of the Class of '69 and the spirit of Apponequet.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

"The answer my friend is blowin' in the wind, the answer is blowin' in the wind."

Superintendent's Message

Mr. George R. Austin
Superintendent of Schools

Each generation produces its leaders. You, as a part of the on-coming generation will be no exception. As the noted author quoted above wrote, where we stand is not nearly as important as where we are going. You stand now at the close of your public elementary and secondary school career. Where you are going from this point is more important. Historically, the American imagination has always been adequate to finding the answers to problems. Youth has been trained in such an atmosphere. This promises well for the future.

"I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving."

The above words are credited to Oliver Wendell Holmes, a noted physician and author whose lifetime spanned the majority of the years of the nineteenth century. No doubt his choice of words reflected his concern for the times in which he lived, yet are just as applicable today.

The United States is a young nation, compared with the majority of the others. In the process of its growth and development, this country has always been able to expand to other relatively undeveloped areas. People, dissatisfied with their lives in a given set of circumstances, could always find ways to solve their problems by moving or finding other employment.

With the continued population growth, the advance technology, the rapid rise in the standard of living and the ever-expanding contacts with all parts of the world, it is no longer possible for us as a people to turn our backs to a problem and go elsewhere. We have to meet problems on a face-to-face basis. There now is no other way out.

Mr. Arthur P. Sylvester
Assistant Superintendent of Schools

"I don't think winning is the most important thing. I think winning is the only thing."

Men like to win; but women hate to lose."

In football* you have to be a finisher. I call it "finishing," but you don't learn it in Miss Hewitt's school for young ladies.

The rigid volunteer rules of right and wrong in sports are second only to religious faith in moral training.

OUR HONORARY COACH
I don't play the sport, but I can be one.

Football constitutes the sustaining background of the life of a man upon whose faithful daily toil and exertion all the progress of society depends.

I have always adhered to two principles: First to train hard, second to forget about the other fellow until you face him on the floor.

Gracious!! Is that the way you dribble a basketball?

Speed and guile offset brawn and size.

"This is my quest,
To follow that star,
No matter how hopeless,
No matter how far."

"Here we stand at the crossroads of life with the best things to come"

... but ...

"Once Upon a Time" ... when we were "Young and Foolish" we took ... "A Walk in the Black Forest" on ... "A Beautiful Morning" ... to go to ... "McArthurs Park" where "We Played Games" ("You Don't Have to be Italian") ... "We're a Winner!" "Suddenly" it was
"Tuesday Afternoon" ... "And the Angels Sang" "The Sweetest Sounds" as we "Tiptoed Through the Tulips" (We got to get out of this place").
"In the Midnight Hour" (or "In the Still of the Night") we went to "Scarborough Fair" ("Tuxedo Junction") ... "Do you Wanna Dance?"
... "You and the Night and the Music." "At Last" "Our Day Has Come" ("Please Release Me") and as we leave "The House that Jack Built" we realize that the "Best is Yet to Come" ...

"It Was a Very Good Year" ...

"Thanks for the Memories."
